

Pro Email Tools

Q. What if you could start your day actually responding to email, instead of cleaning spam out of your Inbox?

Q. What if you and your email server were no longer vulnerable to email viruses?

Q. What if you could have email accounts with dramatically higher storage limits, and the ability to sync your email between multiple computers - say your desktop and your laptop?

Q. What if your email could be backed up remotely for you, every day, so you could retrieve it in the case of a catastrophe at your business?

Q. What if it was all managed for you, with 24/7 secure hosting, maintenance, and backup services?

A. Amazingly, you can, and for just pennies a day. The tools that big businesses take for granted are now available to smaller companies just like yours.

Do email hassles cost you too much time and expense? Is spam draining your time, server space, and effectiveness?

Bare Feet Studios is proud to be an authorized reseller of Webmail and the Postini Perimeter Manager™ spam blocking service. These professional email tools allow you to work smarter for less.

Webmail is a professionally hosted and managed email service. You can choose whether you want “POP” accounts or “IMAP” accounts and you can choose a generous 250 MB of storage or an enormous Pro level of 1 GB.

POP vs IMAP

POP: Your email is held on the email server until you start your email software (such as Outlook or Apple Mail) which then goes and gets your email, and stores it on your computer.

IMAP: Your email is stored on the email server. Your email software still checks for you and downloads your email. Set up your filing folders on the email server, then see the same folder structure on every computer that connects with your IMAP account.

IMAP differs from POP in that once POP email is downloaded to your computer, it is no longer stored on the web. Business customers who travel a lot and need to keep their email applications in synch on more than one computer may want to use IMAP. This means, for example, you can use Outlook on your PC at work, then use Apple Mail on your home computer. Or even log in securely to Webmail from any computer and be able to access your email and folders at any time.
